VINEYARDS

Rías Baixas boasts a number of high quality grapes; chief among them is Albariño, occupying more than 90% of the D.O.'s vineyard area. The soils are largely granite, with some chalk and clay, and contain an abundance of minerals but few nutrients, making it perfect for wine-growing. Old vineyards planted in the Pérgola system, traditional for this area, produce the Albariño grapes with a high level of acidity given the proximity of the Atlantic Ocean and the high level of rains. This wine will continue to develop complexity with the bottle age.
